

Houston

Baker Botts has been an integral part of Houston's business community since 1840 when the firm's founder, Peter Gray, launched his law practice in the Republic of Texas. As Houston's economy developed, so did the scope of the firm's legal services with approximately 200 lawyers today.

Baker Botts

Our lawyers are experienced in a wide range of areas, including corporate, energy projects and transactions, environmental, intellectual property, litigation, real estate and tax. We work for leading companies in a variety of industries: banking and finance, energy, manufacturing, media, pharmaceuticals, real estate, technology, telecommunications and transportation.

Houston is often referred to as the energy capital of the world, and Baker Botts is recognized as one of the city's leading law firms with connections to key international energy markets in Asia, Europe and the Middle East. Energy is an integral component of the work our lawyers provide clients, but the depth of our legal counsel covers a broad array of practice areas. Baker Botts is rooted as a pillar institution in the city's business landscape, and our lawyers have played pivotal roles in landmark cases and transactions involving clients in a multitude of industries.

Rankings

“My wife and I were looking to move back home to Houston from New York and put down roots. After researching Houston’s top firms, Baker Botts was clearly the right fit. I work on the same caliber deals I did in New York with Wall Street investment banks and law firms. The Firm has been a great place to work, make friends and grow as a lawyer. And Houston’s dramatically lower cost of living doesn’t hurt either.”

—Travis Wofford, Houston Corporate Department Chair
